

► EXERCISE 6

Translate into Latin.

1. You were asking how beautiful that city was.
2. You were asking how beautiful that city had been.
3. You are asking how beautiful that city is.
4. You are asking how beautiful that city was.
5. You will ask how beautiful that city is.
6. We are learning which soldiers are coming to our city.
7. We are learning which soldiers came to our city.
8. We learned which soldiers were coming to our city.
9. We learned which soldiers had come to our city.

The Crusades consumed the energy and attention of rulers and soldiers for over two centuries and also seized the imagination of artists who filled manuscripts and canvases with images from these campaigns. The manuscript "Overseas Voyages" inspired by the maritime exploits following the Fall of Constantinople and illustrated by Sebastian Marmoret (ca. 1490) includes this image of fighting crusaders.